

New Kids on the Block

Our long time Program Manager Veronica Grossi and her husband Peter welcomed a healthy baby girl. This little bundle of joy is named Talia and is a leap year baby born on February 29. Congratulations Veronica and Peter! Everyone at Volunteer Grandparents wishes them all the best and we are looking forward to Veronica's return in early 2017.

Tam Pham is a fourth year student at SFU majoring in Health Sciences. This is her second co-op work placement, as she was previously at Science World as a Science Facilitator and Super Science Club Facilitator, where she educated diverse audiences of children, families, and adults. With a passion in community engagement and working with people, Tam is very excited to join Volunteer Grandparents as a Special Event Project Coordinator for the summer. She is looking forward to learning new skills, creating bonds, and gaining lifelong experiences, with the hopes of contributing to the communities.

We are fortunate to have one of our Board members, Sarah Fantin, take a leave of absence from Board service to support us as our Acting Program Manager in Veronica's absence. Sarah has been on the Board since 2010 and she looks forward to bringing her experience to the day-to-day side of Volunteer Grandparents.
